Section Two

Mission statement:

Centre Academy East Anglia (hereafter, CAEA) is an independent, co-educational, day and boarding school committed to providing excellence in education for students with various learning difficulties. We offer a supportive and nurturing programme for all our students, ages 5- 19, so that each may achieve his or her full potential.

We instil within our students an appreciation of those values we believe essential for an effective education: honesty, integrity, trust, fairness, respect, compassion and civility.

Within the school's Christian ethos, we welcome students of any religious persuasion, any socio-economic background, any race.

We promote international understanding within our diverse population by emphasising community as well as individual responsibility.

Finally we are committed to the belief that excellence in education can best be achieved when a partnership exists between school, student and family.

CAEA is committed to providing excellence in education to students with a range of learning difficulties including AD/HD, Dyslexia, Autistic Spectrum Disorders, Language, communication and social pragmatic difficulties, anxiety and other mild to moderate learning difficulties. CAEA is located in the village of Brettenham, Suffolk. It was established originally in 1981 as The Old Rectory. It became CAEA when it amalgamated with Centre Academy London in 2010.

Aim

The school is dedicated to providing a supportive and nurturing environment for all its students aged 4 to 19, so that each may achieve his or her full potential within either the National Curriculum, the Foundation Learning Programme and/or the High School Diploma. The school instils within its students an appreciation of those values it believes essential for an effective education - honesty, integrity, trust, fairness, compassion - and we also promote international understanding within our culturally diverse school population by emphasising community as well as individual responsibility. We recognise that each child is different and because of that each individual child is always our starting point; to guide their academic achievement and social, emotional and personal development. This is supported by ensuring each pupil strengthens their independent learning and living skills which are key to building confidence and self-esteem.

Finally, the school is committed to the belief that excellence in education can be best achieved when a partnership exists between family, student and school. In that light communication is key, with the school holding regular coffee mornings, parent's days and issuing a weekly bulletin to keep parents informed.

Objectives:

CAEA is an inclusive school that provides a supportive community and fosters high achievement for everyone. We believe that inclusion is about engendering a sense of community and encouraging schools like CAEA and other counterparts to come together to support each other and our pupils. As an inclusive school we have:

- An inclusive ethos
- A broad and balanced curriculum for all pupils
- Early identification of barriers to learning and social participation
- High expectations and individualised targets for all pupils.

This means:

- We aim for all our students to reach their potential and, indeed, to achieve all they can.
- We have high aspirations for individual students and we aim to successfully prepare them for adulthood, including further education, independent living and employment.
- We aim to provide a curriculum which accesses the individual needs of our students.
- We ensure that the needs of students are identified and assessed, and we aim to provide appropriate support strategies. If additional specialist advice and support is necessary, we will contact the appropriate external agencies.
- We aim to identify any students who we believe are 'missing out', finding it difficult to engage or feeling in some way apart from what the school aims to provide. We take practical steps in the classroom and beyond to meet the needs of our pupils effectively.
- We are clear about the action (including partnerships with other schools and organisations, local authorities or local initiatives) that we are taking or planning to improve the learning experience and to raise standards of attainment of students or groups of students who appear to be underachieving or at particular risk of not achieving their potential.
- We aim to be able to justify our choice of intervention in terms of appropriateness and effectiveness.
- We aim to demonstrate the action we are taking to promote tolerance, understanding and racial/religious harmony to prepare students for living in a diverse and increasingly interdependent society and specifically to prevent and address racism, sexism and other forms of discrimination.
- We aim to demonstrate that clear student support systems are in place to deal with issues as diverse as bullying and medical needs.
- We aim to demonstrate the systems we use to monitor and evaluate our behaviour and disciplinary policies. (See Behaviour and Disciplinary Policy)
- We recognise the vital role of the parent in the identification, assessment and response to their child or young person's learning needs. We will work in partnership with them to support every aspect of their child's education.

- We encourage student self-reflection and we are committed to recognizing the importance of taking their views into consideration. We recognise the importance of young people being active decision-makers in their future and in their special educational provision.
- We are committed to effective collaboration between all agencies working with a student.
- We favour a multi-disciplinary approach to meeting a student's special educational needs. We will actively support the maintenance of close links with all agencies working with the student.
- Create a welcoming atmosphere for parents and/or carers.

This policy describes the way we meet the needs of children who previously experience barriers to their learning, which may relate to sensory or physical impairment, learning difficulties or emotional-social development.

Section Three

Identifying Special Educational Needs

CAEA aims to support the needs of students with special and additional educational needs and as such, aims to provide a carefully designed and differentiated curriculum to all its students. The needs of most students have already been identified before their acceptance to CAEA, especially those supported by a Statement of SEN or from September 2014, an Educational, Health and Care Plan (EHCP). It is important to note that the school recognises that some students will require provision over and above that normally accommodated, supplemental to earlier testing and diagnoses. For students requiring additional support, there are a number of steps to be taken. To explain: students will be reassessed to establish their further needs. The school will then address these needs as applicable. For students with a statement or an EHCP the extra needs will be discussed at the yearly review and then added to the plan.

Concerns regarding students, from parents, teachers or therapists should be addressed directly to Mrs Kim Salthouse, the Head of School, in the first instance. Mrs Salthouse is responsible for alerting teachers and staff either individually or through group meetings. In this, she will on occasion be assisted by the Principal and/or the SENCo. Appropriate members of staff will meet in order to discuss and review concerns, led and co-ordinated by the Head of School. Such meetings may also include parents, teachers and the Principal. In some cases, information may be passed to other parties such as the school therapists, local authority or other external professionals, but always conforming to CAEA's policies on confidentiality and the sharing of information.

All students at the school have been identified as requiring SEN Support and are provided with a SEN Provision Plan at the start of each academic year. All statements issued by a local authority will be changed to an Educational, Health, and Care Plan by the year 2018. All students are listed on the SEN Support Register, indicating the level of support being received.

The SEND Code of Practice, 2014 describes the four broad categories of need as:

- Communication and interaction
- Cognition and learning
- Social, emotional and mental health difficulties
- Sensory and/or physical needs

Full descriptions (as outlined by the SEN Code of Practice, 2014) of each of the categories are included at the end of this policy.

The school, in accordance with the SEN Code of Practice, 2014 believes the following are not SEN, but may impact on progress and attainment:

- Disability - the SEN Code of Practice, 2014 outlines 'reasonable adjustment' duty for all settings and schools provided under current Disability Equality legislation - these alone do not constitute SEN.
- Poor attendance and punctuality
- Health and welfare concerns
- English as an Additional Language
- Being a Looked-After Child
- Being a child of a serviceman/woman
- Behaviour - concerns relating to a child or young person's behaviour should be considered to be an underlying response to a need which requires identification and support.

Section Four

A Graduated Approach to SEN Support

The needs of students at CAEA have already been identified before their acceptance at the school, especially those supported by a Statement of SEN or Educational, Health and Care Plan (EHCP). Those without a Statement of SEN or EHCP are supported with a recent Educational Psychologist Assessment and Report, completed prior to admission to the school. The school's level of response in the first instance to a student's needs is guided by the Statement of SEN, EHCP or the outcomes of any professional or formal assessment conducted. The school recognises that some students will require provision over and above that normally accommodated, supplemental to earlier testing and diagnoses. A review of the Statement of SEN / EHCP occurs at least once a year.

Teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of students in their class, including student access to support from specialist staff. High quality teaching, differentiated for individual students delivered by experienced SEN teachers, is the first step in responding to students who have or may have SEN. Additional intervention and support is not used to compensate for the lack of good quality teaching; teachers are supported through continual professional development and direct support from specialist teachers and staff within the school community to ensure they offer all pupils the highest possible level of teaching.

Where a student has been identified as having additional SEN not described in the reports outlined above, we will take action to remove barriers to learning and put effective special educational provision in place. This SEN support will take the form of a four-part cycle through which earlier decisions and actions are revisited, refined and revised with a growing understanding of the student's needs and of what supports the pupil in making good progress and securing good outcomes. This is known as 'the graduated approach':

Assess

In identifying a student as needing SEN support the class or subject teacher, working with the Head of School and the SENCo will carry out a clear analysis of the student's needs. This will draw on the teacher's assessment and experience of the student, their previous progress and attainment, as well as information from those professionals already working with the student. It should also draw on other subject teachers' assessments where relevant, the individual's development in comparison to their peers and national data, the views and experience of parents, the pupil's own views and, if relevant, advice from external support services. The school will work closely with the information already known about the student, including Statements of SEN and EHCPs, educational psychologist reports, occupational, speech therapy and counselor assessments. Prior to GCSE examinations the students are all assessed for examination concessions by the SENCo. All students are assessed annually to compare their results on a like-for-like basis with others of their peer groups. The school takes concerns raised by a parent seriously; these will be recorded and compared to the school's own assessment and information concerning how the student is developing.

CAEA reviews its assessment regularly to ensure support and interventions are matched to need and that barriers to learning are identified and overcome.

Plan

Where it is decided to provide a pupil with SEN support, the parents will be informed. A plan will be constructed by the class teacher and the Head of School in liaison with the SENCo; the Provision Plan will be updated to reflect this. The Provision Plan will be shared with the parent and student when amended. Interventions and support provided will be selected to meet the outcomes identified for the student, based on reliable evidence of effectiveness and will be provided by staff with skills and knowledge in that area. The school will draw upon parental involvement to reinforce or contribute to progress at home.

Action

The class or subject teacher will remain responsible for working with a student on a daily basis. Where the interventions involve group or one-to-one teaching away from the main class or subject teacher, they will still retain responsibility for the student. Where specialist staff are involved in working with the student, their work will be linked to classroom teaching and learning. Throughout the intervention or support, progress will be monitored closely to assess the impact of any provision.

Review

The effectiveness of the support and interventions and their impact on student progress will be reviewed. Short term interventions will be reviewed throughout, and reassessment will take place. Provision Plans are reviewed and published three times a year to effectively measure progress and embrace the four part cycle of the graduated approach. Where a student has an EHCP or Statement of SEN, the local authority, working with the school will review the plan at least every twelve months.

Managing Student's Needs on the SEN Support Register

All students at CAEA are recorded on the school's SEN Support Register, held by the SENCo and the Head of School, which identifies individual students, their SEN and levels of provision. The Register is the responsibility of the SENCo, who will update and share information from the Register with those professionals working within the school.

Every student at CAEA is provided with a Provision Plan, outlining the support, interventions and targets in place for the individual. The Provision Plan is a working document, contributed to and by those working directly with the student. The Provision Plan for each student is reviewed and published three times a year (approximately September, February and June) and sent to the parent. For students with a Statement of SEN or EHCP, the Provision Plan will link directly to the student's SEN objectives and will also be reviewed at the Annual Review meeting. Parents and students can request their Provision Plan at any point in the academic year. The Provision Plan will include targets which are assessed, planned and reviewed by the individual professional working with the student.

Subject teachers working with students on the SEN Support Register will set individual curriculum targets as part of their subject reports to parents each term. Where a Parent Conference meeting replaces a report, teachers will communicate their targets to the parent at that meeting. Any concerns regarding the progress a student is making within an individual subject, this should be directed at the teacher in the first instance.

Set tutors initiate 'pen portraits' on their individual students. These include their diagnosis, learning styles, strategies and the points that a pupil would want their tutor to know, unless confidential. They can also include the pupil/students main targets.

The school recognises the importance of working closely with therapists and specialists. CAEA approaches therapy as an integral part of provision at the school and it is integrated into the curriculum wherever possible. The school currently has therapists for the following areas: speech and language, occupational therapy, physio-therapy, music and drama therapy and yoga. The therapists work closely with teachers and the SENCo in assessing and providing high quality provision and support. The therapists are available for parents or students to contact directly regarding their services or specialism.

Behavioural Management Plans

At CAEA we recognise that 'behaviour' is not a special educational need, although inappropriate behaviour can result from the difficulties that the pupil has experienced. In this light, it is occasionally deemed necessary to develop individual Behavioural Plans. These plans will outline targets for the students and also emphasise the strategies that can be utilised to assist in meeting the targets. For example a defined area for 'time out'. These plans are then adopted by all adults working with the pupil/student to ensure that a consistent and coordinated approach is used by all staff.

Section Five

Supporting Students and Families

CAEA is committed to providing high quality support to students and their families. For further information on how the school supports individual students and their families, please refer to the SEN Information Report provided on the schools website: www.centreacademy.net.

CAEA caters for students and families representing a range of authorities, including Suffolk, Cambridge, Essex, Camden, Wandsworth, Newham, Brighton and Hove and others in the Greater London area. Each local authority has its own local offer, outlining the provision and support available to students with SEN and their families.

The Centre Academy website, encompassing CAEA and its sister school, Centre Academy London, contains many of the key policies; individual policies not available on the website can be requested through the CAEA office.

Section Six

Supporting Students at School with Medical Conditions

CAEA recognises that pupils at school with medical conditions should be properly supported so that they have full access to education, including school trips and physical education. Some children with medical conditions may be disabled and where this is the case the school will comply with its duties under the Equality Act 2010.

Relevant and up to date policies on medical conditions and first aid can be found on the school's website or requested through the school's office.

Section Seven

Monitoring and Evaluation of SEND

CAEA strives to ensure it maintains quality of its input to students with SEN. Therefore, as part of the ongoing monitoring and evaluation of all areas of provision, we conduct an annual review of the SEN Policy and SEN Information Report to evaluate the effectiveness of:

- systems for identifying and assessing students with SEN, including those who are more able;
- the provision made to meet students' SEN, including new resources, staff development and training;
- the allocation of resources to meet the SEN of students.

The views of parents are sought in a variety of ways, including:

- Annual Reviews
- Parent Conferences
- Parent questionnaires

- Invitations to school and social events and meetings, for example our regular morning coffees, curriculum discussions focused on the American Diploma, GCSEs and other qualifications, and evening musical programs.

The views of students are sought through various initiatives, including:

- Annual Reviews
- Regular mentoring
- Academic mentoring
- Evaluation curriculum targets
- Student questionnaires

Section Eight

Training and Resources

CAEA is committed to providing and facilitating attendance at in-service training in the area of learning support and SEN. An annual needs analysis is undertaken by the Head of School to identify the training needs of CAEA and of individual staff in conjunction with the annual review of the SEN Policy and individual staff performance management. Staff are encouraged to discuss requests for further training in SEN with the Head of School and on occasion with the Principal.

The school provides opportunities for shared good-practice initiatives through lesson observations by colleagues and by contributions to INSET sessions during staff meetings or other designated times. All teachers and support staff undertake induction on taking up a post and this includes a meeting with the Head of School to explain the systems and structures in place around the school's SEND provision and practice and to discuss the needs of individual students and classes.

Appendices

Special educational needs and disability code of practice: 0 to 25 years

Broad areas of need:

Communication and interaction

6.28 Children and young people with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN) have difficulty in communicating with others. This may be because they have difficulty saying what they want to, understanding what is being said to them or they do not understand or use social rules of communication. The profile for every child with SLCN is different and their needs may change over time. They may have difficulty with one, some or all of the different aspects of speech, language or social communication at different times of their lives.

6.29 Children and young people with ASD, including Asperger's Syndrome and Autism, are likely to have particular difficulties with social interaction. They may also experience difficulties with language, communication and imagination, which can impact on how they relate to others.

Cognition and learning

6.30 Support for learning difficulties may be required when children and young people learn at a slower pace than their peers, even with appropriate differentiation. Learning difficulties cover a wide range of needs, including moderate learning difficulties (MLD), severe learning difficulties (SLD), where children are likely to need support in all areas of the curriculum and associated difficulties with mobility and communication, through to profound and multiple learning difficulties (PMLD), where children are likely to have severe and complex learning difficulties as well as a physical disability or sensory impairment.

6.31 Specific learning difficulties (SpLD), affect one or more specific aspects of learning. This encompasses a range of conditions such as dyslexia, dyscalculia and dyspraxia.

Social, emotional and mental health difficulties

6.32 Children and young people may experience a wide range of social and emotional difficulties which manifest themselves in many ways. These may include becoming withdrawn or isolated, as well as displaying challenging, disruptive or disturbing behaviour. These behaviours may reflect underlying mental health difficulties such as anxiety or depression, self-harming, substance misuse, eating disorders or physical symptoms that are medically unexplained. Other children and young people may have disorders such as attention deficit disorder, attention deficit hyperactive disorder or attachment disorder.

6.33 Schools and colleges should have clear processes to support children and young people, including how they will manage the effect of any disruptive behaviour so it does not adversely affect other pupils. The Department for Education publishes guidance on managing pupils' mental health and behaviour difficulties in schools – see the References section under Chapter 6 for a link.

Sensory and/or physical needs

6.34 Some children and young people require special educational provision because they have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of the educational facilities generally provided. These difficulties can be age related and may fluctuate over time. Many children and young people with vision impairment (VI), hearing impairment (HI) or a multi-sensory impairment (MSI) will require specialist support and/or equipment to access their learning, or habilitation support. Children and young people with an MSI have a combination of vision and hearing difficulties. Information on how to provide services for deaf/blind children and young people is available through the Social Care for Deaf/blind Children and Adults guidance published by the Department of Health (see the References section under Chapter 6 for a link).

6.35 Some children and young people with a physical disability (PD) require additional ongoing support and equipment to access all the opportunities available to their peers.
