Mrs Kim Salthouse, BA (Hons), M ED SEN, Cert. Ed, Dip SPLD, PGCPD
Head of School, Centre Academy East Anglia

The Head of CAEA since 2010, Mrs Salthouse has devoted her professional life to special educational needs. She has created and directed SEN programmes, served as SENCo and Senior Teacher, sponsored an advice centre for parents of SEN children and developed curricula and assessment methods for children facing a variety of learning challenges. Mrs Salthouse is a specialist in teaching reading and in addition to her duties as Head, teaches literature and recently pioneered a new course in Great Books.

Miss Rachel Maddison, BSc, MA, PGCE, PG Dip
Head of School, Centre Academy London

Miss Maddison has been with Centre Academy since 2014. Initially as Head of Maths, then as Head of Assessment and most recently as Head of School. Miss Maddison has experience in a range of school environments, both main stream and SEN. She is particularly focused on ensuring that assessment and student data is used within the classroom setting to create and personalise learning. Miss Maddison was initially led into teaching through her interest in training and development garnered in her 10-year career in Human Resources.
